Report	Soft skills and research methodology are essential components of professional development for faculty members in higher education institutions. Recognizing their significance, a Faculty Development Program (FDP) was conducted to enhance participants' soft skills and research methodology knowledge. The FDP provided a platform for participants to interact with peers from diverse disciplines and institutions. This facilitated networking, collaboration, and the exchange of ideas and research experiences. The resource person was Dr. Anju Dhadha Mishra and Dr. Manmohan Singh Chauhan. The FDP motivated participants to initiate or advance their research endeavors. Several participants started new research projects, while others made progress on ongoing projects. Some participants also successfully published their research work in reputed journals. The Faculty Development Program aimed to achieve the following objectives: <ol style="list-style-type: none"><li>Develop and strengthen participants' soft skills, including communication, teamwork, leadership, problem-solving, and time management.</li><li>Enhance participants' understanding of research methodology, including research design, data collection, analysis, and publication.</li><li>Provide practical guidance on applying soft skills in academic and research settings.</li><li>Foster a collaborative learning environment to facilitate knowledge sharing and networking among participants.</li><li>Equip participants with the necessary skills to conduct quality research and contribute to academic scholarship.</li></ol> The Faculty Development Program on soft skills and research methodology provided faculty members with valuable knowledge, skills, and practical tools to
